

Checklist of questions that should be considered when caring for End of Life patients

Are there any treatments they would rather avoid?

Do they have any medical conditions that require attention from staff?

Are there any specific spiritual practices that need to take place in their final days and moments. Would they like staff to support them with this?

Are there any specific spiritual practices that need to take place after their death? Has this been arranged?

Have they made a will, or would they like to make a will? If they have, who has copies of it?

Have they made plans for burial/cremation? Have these been written down and who has a copy of the plan?

Should the staff be aware of any plans for the funeral and burial?
